

SIX GAMES THIS WEEK

Locals 'Greatly Strengthened and Playing Fast Ball.

Paris Here Today--Double-Header With Richmond Friday.

The Mt. Sterling Base Ball team will play at home nearly all of this week. Maysville played here Tuesday, but up to going to press we had not learned the score. Paris plays here today, Richmond plays a double-header here Friday and on Saturday Richmond will again cross bats with the Orphans.

Notwithstanding the home team has been greatly strengthened and is playing good ball they continue to lose. During the past week they have played a number of excellent games and but for bad luck would have won. Sunday they were defeated by Maysville in a hard-fought 11-inning game by the score of 5 to 4. Knight, a new man, pitched for the locals and pitched a splendid game.

Monday Maysville again defeated the locals by the score of 1 to 0, the winning run not being made until the last half of the ninth. Friedly pitched for Mt. Sterling and Sanford for Maysville.

Luck is sure to soon change and then look out for the Orphans.

Let's continue to pull hard for the home team and we will soon have a winner.

Let Sutton & Son furnish your home, then you will have the BEST. It will cost more elsewhere.

Death of Mrs. John T. Johnson.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, Mrs. Emma Lee Johnson, wife of John T. Johnson, near Judy, departed this life to join the redeemed. Deceased was 52 years old and was born and reared in this county, being a daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Hurt near this city. She was married to John T. Johnson in 1884. Their union was blessed with six children, three of whom survive her. Funeral services were held at Somerset Church conducted by Rev. H. D. Clark.

Mrs. Johnson was a loving mother, kind wife, good neighbor and a true christian woman. The deepest sympathy of all goes out to the bereaved husband and children.

To Start Private School.

Mrs. J. W. Prewitt (nee Miss Pearl Bruton) has rented the R. L. Tipton property on North Sycamore street and has had same remodeled, repainted and papered throughout and will open her school there September 9th. Mrs. Prewitt is well known to the people of this city and county, having taught a private school here several years ago. She has engaged Mrs. Claude Halley as teacher in the primary department, and in her selection she has indeed acted wisely, as Mrs. Halley has long been recognized as one of the best teachers in this section for little children.

Mrs. Prewitt will no doubt have a most successful school.

MARRIED AT EUSTIS

Stuart McCormick and Miss Frances L. Igou Surprise Friends.

Groom is the Youngest Son of Mr. Jno. L. McCormick, This City.

The following announcement from The Eustis Lake Region will be of interest to many of our readers, Mr. McCormick having a large circle of relatives and friends who will wish the young couple the happiness and prosperity they so richly deserve:

"The residence of Hon. W. M. Igou was the scene of one of the prettiest home weddings last Tuesday night that it has ever been our pleasure to witness.

"The rooms were beautifully decorated with asparagus ferns, ivy, palms, potted ferns and roses. Only a few young friends of the bride and groom were present.

"Promptly at the hour, 9 o'clock, Mrs. Irving Miller, who presided at the piano, began the wedding march from Lohengrin. The groom with his best man, Mr. Carl L. Ferran, stepped into the parlor from the side, and the bride on the arm of her brother, who gave her away, entered through the hall, preceded by Miss Willie Igou, maid of honor, who was tastefully dressed in white and carried a large and beautiful bouquet of white roses. The bride and her brother advanced to the bower of ferns at the further side of the room, the groom stepped forward and took her arm, then Dr. L. M. Stevens asked those solemn questions, pledging their lives, one to the other, for good or ill, so long as they should live; the groom slipped the ring on the finger of the bride as the token which sealed his troth and Dr. Stevens pronounced them man and wife, closing the ceremony with prayer, in which he asked the divine blessing to attend the happy union, granting them long and useful lives here on earth and a final gathering in the heavenly home above.

"Congratulations followed and the guests were ushered out upon the wide and spacious porches, where they were daintily served with cake and cream. Delicious fruit punch was also served in the dining room.

"The bride was dressed in a handsome white chiffon trimmed with shadow lace, and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses and lily of the valley. The groom was attired in the conventional black.

"The bride came here a few years ago with her mother from Cleveland, Tenn., and since the mother's death has made her home with her brother. She is a young woman of sweet and loving disposition, with a large circle of friends, while the groom is the son of J. L. McCormick, of Mt. Sterling, Ky., who with his parents have been winter residents in our city. Mr. McCormick is a man of energy and ability and is one of the young business men of our town. The wedding presents were very beautiful and consisted of silverware, cut glass, delicate china and linen.

"The following morning the bridal party boarded the train at Mt. Dora for a short wedding journey. Upon their return they will be at home corner of Magnolia avenue and Dewey street. Their many friends extend to them their best wishes for a happy and prosperous life."

Farmers to Get

Balance Due Them.

As soon as this is out of the way the Burley Tobacco Company will have full charge of the growers' affairs and will handle all tobacco produced by its members hereafter on the ten-year pooling basis, which was adopted by a vote in the three States named in March.

COUNCIL RESTRAINED

From Accepting Work of The L. W. Hancock Company.

Matter to Be Tested in Courts By Citizens.

Last Friday several citizens met in the County Court room and determined to test in the courts the question of whether or not the brick street work recently done by The L. W. Hancock Company comes up to the specifications and contract. Legal talent was secured and Saturday a test suit was filed by Jno. W. William, B. F. Cockrell, J. F. Reynolds and others restraining the Mayor and City Council from accepting the work. The petition alleged that the work was faulty in many particulars and that the plaintiffs were informed that the Mayor and City Council were about to accept the work, notwithstanding the alleged defects. Under the terms of the restraining order, no action can be taken until the order is dissolved, and until the litigation is determined, the L. W. Hancock Company will receive nothing.

Death of Prominent Woman.

Mrs. Julia F. Evans died at her home in this city, Friday, August 9, death being caused by pneumonia. She was 68 years old and had long been a resident of this city. Mrs. Evans was one of the most beloved women in the county and was a member of one of Montgomery's most prominent families. She is survived by two daughters, Misses Sue and Mary Evans, of this city, and one son, who has made his home in the West for a number of years, all of whom have the sympathy of many relatives and friends in the time of grief. Funeral services were held at the residence Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. H. D. Clark, and burial in Machpelah Cemetery.

Work On Tobacco Warehouse Is Progressing Rapidly.

Work on the new tobacco warehouse is progressing rapidly and when completed will be one of the largest in the State. Mr. V. B. Shelburne, of Richmond, Va., son of Mr. Silas Shelburne, of Lexington, was in this city last week looking over the new warehouse site. Mr. Shelburne, who is one of the best tobacco men anywhere, and who holds a responsible position with the American Tobacco Co. at Richmond, Va., will probably be made manager of the Farmers' Tobacco Warehouse Co. in this city. It is thought that the new company could not do better than select Mr. Shelburne for this responsible position.

Send your children where they will receive individual instructions. Mrs. J. W. Prewitt.

Gets Nice Job.

Taft.

He thought that the interpreting of statutes was all there was of life or office. The spirit of the times went by him. He lacked energy; in repeated public addresses he used stronger words than Roosevelt ever did concerning certain abuses of the courts, but the beneficiaries of those wrongs never worried; but at a single speech from Roosevelt in private life they flew into a panic. Taft "meant well feebly." The public did not feel strongly against him—he never inspired so robust an emotion as hate. People didn't think of him as having the will to do evil; rather, they felt sorry for him as an easy-going man in a strenuous time, one to whom ease and sleep were more attractive than the strife that was necessary to keep his foothold. In the unhurried quiet of some inferior bench, minutely comparing tweddled and tweedledum, his flaws might never have come out, and he might have ended his years, not with any particular glory, of course, but certainly without opprobrium. The country blamed his environments more than the indolence which permitted those environments to be what they were; Dolliver's epigram crystallized the public conception of Taft: "A large, amiable body, closely surrounded by persons who know exactly what they want." Some pretty grave faults in his character came out; for example, his participation in the forging of a public document to escape the embarrassing consequences of a false position; but the public thought of this as the petty subterfuge of a feeble man rather than the big wickedness of a malevolent one.—Collier's.

Is The Big Feature of the Horse Show At Kentucky State Fair In September.

FAMOUS HORSES WILL BE SEEN

This Big Event Is for Five-Gaited Saddle Horses Under Three Years Old—Thirteen Nominations Have Been Made.

The horse show, as usual, will be a feature at the Kentucky State Fair this year. The list of events to be decided during the week of the fair is headed by the $1,000 stake for five-gaited saddle horses, three-year-olds and over, entries to which closed July 1. With the exception of one other stake of the same value this is the richest saddle horse stake to be contested in America this year and because of this fact the entries closed July 1 with thirteen nominations, the largest number ever entered for this stake. Of the thirteen nominations made they represent eleven owners and it is certain that at least eleven will be shown in the big stake, which will be decided Friday night of the fair. Among those who nominated in the rich prize are Powhattan Woolridge, Louisville, one entry; P. W. Ray, Bowling Green, two entries; The Undulata Farm of Col. Harry Welsinger of Shelbyville, two entries; Ball Brothers, Versailles, one entry; Collins & Redmond and Allie G. Jones, North Middletown, one entry each; J. L. Nichol & Son, Woodburn, one entry; Mrs. Richard Tasker Lowndes, Danville, one entry; Robert E. Moreland, Lexington; Hickman & Ormshy, Louisville, and Matlack & Shropshire, Winchester, one entry each.

While the horses to be shown will not be named until September 1st, the list of eligibles include such star performers as Kentucky's Choice, Nicol Plate, Maud King, Roosevelt, Nazimna, Undulata Chief, Major Dare, Sadie Macey, Hazel Dawn, Rexall Prince, Princess V, and others of equal merit. While the entries to the big stake closed July 1 with thirteen nominations the nominators did not have to make known the name of their starters in the race until the night of September 1, thirteen days in advance of the date of the stake, and previous to that time nominators have the privilege of disposing of their nominations to other owners. With this condition it is expected that several of the prominent saddle horse owners of the East will take advantage of an opportunity of purchasing a nomination from one of those who have made two nominations to the stake with a view of getting their horses in the stake. In fact should any owner decide before September 1 that his eligible was not in condition to compete for the stake he will have an opportunity of disposing of his nomination to another, and as many of the most famous saddlers each season are usually developed between July 1 and September 1 it is certain the $1,000 stake will be contested for by the best in the country.

Other events for three and five-gaited saddle horses as well as for light harness horses insure the horse show at the State Fair this year will prove one of the greatest attractions in the history of the fair.

RICH PRIZE FOR BOY

Who Wins the Judging Contest at the Kentucky State Fair Sept. 9-14.

With a view of further encouragement to the farmer boys of Kentucky to gain a scientific knowledge of agriculture the State Fair management has again this year made arrangements for a renewal of the Students' Judging Contest, which has proved so popular in the past, and a scholarship in the agricultural college of the State University, carrying with it $100 in cash, will be offered for the best judge of several classes. The contest will consist of rings for horses, cattle, sheep and swine exhibited at the State Fair and written statements are to be presented by each contestant setting forth his reasons for the decisions reached by him.

The contest this year will be under the personal supervision of Prof. J. J. Hooper, Professor of Animal Husbandry of the Kentucky State University at Lexington, and it is his purpose to devote much of his time from now until the date of the fair in working up interest among the farmer boys of the state in the event. Inasmuch as the farmer boys of Kentucky are proud of their ability to correctly judge a horse or other farm animal, much interest is always manifested in this contest and as many applications for entry blanks have been received by Secretary Dent this year it is expected that keen rivalry will exist among several hundred young men and boys the week of the fair, September 9-14. Any boy who wishes to enter the contest can secure an application blank by applying to J. L. Dent, Secretary of the State Fair, Room 320, Paul Jones Building, Louisville, and all information relative to the contest will be forwarded to the applicant with the entry blank.

Concrete Silos Popular In Kentucky.

During the season of 1911 the College of Agriculture of the State University of Kentucky, in co-operation with the Dairy Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been active in promoting the building of silos and carrying on other dairy extension work throughout the State.

Seven concrete silos were built and seven home-made silos set up, and repairs were made in several other cases. In addition fifteen other silos of various types were set up under the direction of the Dairy Division.

All the silos proved satisfactory and especially valuable during the past severe winter. Everyone who built a silo has expressed himself as especially well pleased with it and many intend to build additional silos this summer. More concrete silos are being built this season than last and they are proving economical to build, many farmers preferring them to the wooden types. A 12x32 foot concrete silo was built at Lebanon last year for cash outlay of less than $150. At Somerset a concrete silo 16x40 was built at a total cost of $400.

It is expected that twenty-five or more concrete silos will have been built by the end of this season. About twenty of the wooden types are being built under the supervision of the Dairy Division and in some cases have resulted in a saving of $50 to $100 each to the farmer. Farmers are availing themselves of this opportunity as is evidenced by the great number of inquiries that are coming in all the time.

The activity of the dairy extension work has not been confined to silo building alone, but plans have been furnished for a number of dairy barns. Five new barns were built complete last year and seven were re-planned and re-built, being changed from unsanitary, inconvenient arrangements to clean, convenient barns. In each case the supervisor visited the farm and made individual plans, using existing conditions to the best advantage with the least expenditure of money. Just now there are five dairy barns being built and as many more being remodelled. Old tobacco barns are readily converted into practical dairies without much expense. The swing stanchions are generally used and concrete gutters and mangers are installed in almost every case. Where bedding is readily secured concrete floors are also used. In some cases cork brick or crosote blocks are used on the platform where the cows stand. In 1911 three new milk houses were built and plans for five others that are being built now were made.

In connection with the construction work, individual records are kept of 150 cows in eight different dairies. In one dairy of 25 cows it was found that the entire profit was $642 in one year, the best cow yielding only 247 pounds of butter fat and the average being 200 pounds apiece. One cow yielded 105 pounds of butter fat, which was not enough to pay her board. Another herd of eight cows profited $347 in a year, with the best cow yielding 332 pounds of butter fat, the herd average being 267 pounds. One dairyman milks and cares for sixteen cows to get the same money that another milks eight cows for.

Wasteful feeding and inefficient cows lose years of labor and thousands of good grain. The dairy expert of the University will show, just for the asking, how large savings may be made each year, and dairy work will not all be heartless drudgery.

EXCELLENT SELECTIONS.

The selection of Hon. Johnson N. Camden, Jr. and Judge S. W. Hager, as Chairman and Vice Chairman, respectively, of the State Campaign Committee, meets with general approval.

Under their wise guidance, Kentucky will return the largest majority for Gov. Wilson in its history.

The political writer for the Louisville Times, under the heading "The Man Behind The Gun," has the following to say regarding the election of Mr. Camden:

"Judge Allie W. Young, of Morehead, who is a 'top notch' in Democratic politics in Eastern Kentucky, came to Louisville to see his friend, Johnson N. Camden, Jr., of Versailles, elected State Campaign Chairman, and he is wearing a pleased look in consequence. To Judge Young, probably more than anyone else is due the credit of Mr. Camden's selection. As soon as the Wilson and Marshall ticket was named at Baltimore, Judge Young picked Mr. Camden as an ideal State Campaign Chairman and laid his plans to land him, which he did most successfully, despite the fact that others were 'touted' for the place. Judge Young has a record for success and rarely ever 'books a losing.'"

In a number of counties the Republican Committee has been purged of "Bull Moosers." Wonder what the regulars will do in this county where one man occupies a place on both committees?

We notice a number of "Bull Moose" papers carrying the likeness of Mr. Roosevelt on the liberty bell. Since the liberty bell is cracked, this may not be inappropriate.

Vice President Sherman is taking the rest cure at Utica, N. Y. If he will postpone treatment for a few months, he will have all the time he needs for rest.

Murder a Day Taking Place in Greater New York.

There was a murder a day in Greater New York during the month of July, according to statistics gathered on the last day of the month, from the Homicide Bureau and District Attorneys in the five boroughs.

In the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx alone there were 23 homicides, including the shooting on the 30th day of the month of James Verrella, proprietor of the Cafe Dante, who, the police believe, was killed because he had betrayed "Dago Frank" Cirofici, one of the supposed murderers of Hermon Rosenthal.

It may be worth mentioning, for the purpose of comparison, that for all 12 months of last year in the entire metropolitan district of London there were only 18 murders.

New York's record is no worse than many of the larger cities, but the facts are kept from the public. These happenings refute the idea that, "I am from Kentucky," is a safeguard against trouble in northern and eastern cities. Gun men inhabit the entire universe, hence it is a risky game to boast of your prowess in a strange land.

FARM BOYS' ENCAMPMENT

One Representative From Each County Will Be Included—Selection by Competitive Examination.

Each succeeding year brings new features to the Kentucky State Fair, some in point of instruction, others in point of amusement. This year the newest, and one of the best features ever planned by the fair management, is the holding of a Farm Boys' Encampment during the week of the fair. It is planned to have one boy from each of the 120 counties in the state in the encampment. This will give one representative boy from each county a chance to see and to study the best that is possible in the way of live stock, farm products, improved methods, improved machinery, and in fact every appliance and tool in use, on an up-to-date farm.

The knowledge and educational benefit derived from this camp of instruction will be spread broadcast throughout the entire state. The selection of the boys will be made on a competitive examination of essays by a committee composed of the county school superintendent, a member of the state board of agriculture and a member of the faculty of the Agricultural college. The applicant must be between the age of 16 and 18 years, and must reside and work on the farm. The essay to be submitted by them is to consist of not less than 400 and not more than 600 words, upon the subject of "Our Home Farm." The essay must be in the hands of the committee before the 21st of August. The applicant whose essay receives the highest standing will be entitled to a free trip to the Kentucky State Fair from each county.

In addition to free transportation, lodging and meals at the fair grounds will be furnished. The boys will be met at the railway station in Louisville by competent guides, who will take them to the fair grounds, at which place they will be under the immediate supervision of Prof. T. R. Bryant, of the Agricultural college.

A LARGE CONTRACT.

What W. S. Lloyd Wants Every Person in Mt. Sterling to Do.

When W. S. Lloyd, the enterprising druggist, first offered a 50 cent package of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price, and guaranteed to return the money if it did not cure, he thought it probable from his experience with other medicines for these diseases that he would have a good many packages returned. But although he has sold hundreds of bottles, not one has been brought back.

To those suffering with dizziness, headache, poor digestion, constipation and straining, Dr. Howard's specific offers quick relief. It is an invaluable boon to all who feel uncomfortable after eating, and is today the popular dinner pill in all the large cities.

Chicago to Have Racing.

The Chicago Racing Form of Saturday's issue gives details of arrangements to carry forward the racing game on an extensive scale in Indiana and the Mineral Springs Jockey Club, near Porter, in close proximity to Chicago. The announcement of the purpose to resume the sport in that section of the country created considerable interest here, where many horsemen regard it as the entering wedge of a more wide-spread resumption of racing.

A Test of Merit

Before purchasing Life Insurance a man should carefully scrutinize every proposition submitted to him.

"But I lack the time, and am not familiar enough with the technicalities of Insurance Contracts to make an intelligent selection," says the prospective buyer.

The "Standard Measuring Rod" used by the State Mutual Life Assurance Company of Worcester, Massachusetts, is a real test of merit.

It is easily applied, it is simple, and will therefore enable you to make an intelligent selection quickly. It is a real time saver. You are welcome to its use.

Girl's Gold Stockings.

Miss Aline Gordon, of New York City, and her gold stockings are the subject of general conversation at Bretton Woods, N. H. Young men and old, as well as women, gaze on the golden hosiery with unaffected interest as Miss Gordon sports lightly up and down the hotel stairs or sits on the piazza in the bright sunlight.

Each pair cost $100 it is said, and Miss Gordon sports two pairs. They were woven from real cloth of gold which is so valuable that the weavers are watched with the utmost care while they work. "Gosh, Miranda, it would take a good many hills of potatoes to pay for them sox," said a farmer as he feasted his eyes on Miss Gordon's glittering encasements.

Do You Agree?

Women take the world seriously and themselves lightly; men take the world lightly and themselves seriously. If it is true that an essential quality of the artist is the power of emotional detachment from the work in hand, perhaps this is one reason why most men make an art of things and affairs, and most women an art of love.

KNOW IT WELL.

Familiar Features Well Known to Hundreds of Mt. Sterling Citizens.

A familiar burden in many homes. The burden of a "bad back." A lame, a weak or an aching back. Often tells you of kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Here is Mt. Sterling testimony.

S. T. Greene, 42 Holt Ave., Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always done me so much good that I am glad to express my high opinion of them. I had a great deal of trouble from the kidneys. The kidney action was too frequent, especially at night, but the flow of the kidney secretions was scanty. The secretions also contained sediment. My back ached and I had pains through my sides. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a supply at Duerson's drug store and used them. They brought the best of results."

Advertising Dispels Dullness.

In the old days of shopping purchases were made at different seasons, and four or five months out of the twelve were "dreadfully dull."

Then January, February, July, August and December, stores and streets were deserted and the lean months ate up the profits of the fat months.

There is still a difference in the sales by month; but nothing is known like the dull days of August and January.

Advertising has changed it all. Advertising "creates traffic," and distributes the business more uniformly throughout the year.

It has not done its largest service. Its power is not yet fully understood, but it is now recognized as essential to commercial success.

If August is not a better month for trade in 1912 than in 1911, it will be due to a neglect of advertising, for all conditions of trade are better.

Walking.

The reputation of walking for pleasure, like the reputation of great poetry, is maintained not by the acquiescence of the many but by the fervent enthusiasm of the few. Cross-country walking, wandering without ulterior motive over an unfamiliar landscape, is enlisting in the service of high romance the commonest physical exercise known to humanity, as poetry is but the sublimation of our common speech. Walking is the cheapest and the simplest of all pastimes, and the most fraught with possibilities of joy. No one can know in full the picturesque resources of a countryside, nor its intimate personality, nor the heart of the humanity that inhabits it until he has tramped through it. To a mind and eye accustomed to more rapid modes of transit, walking magnifies by its necessary slowness the imaginative resources of each mile of countryside as a microscope reveals a simple unit like a maple leaf to be a complex community of a million cells.

More, perhaps, for is not walking man's age-old and elemental relation to time and space? Most people do not like to walk because they go at it too casually, without sufficient attention to practical details. No one would dream of playing tennis in Cuban heels or baseball with eyes unprotected from the glaring sun. And many seem to think that the by-ways and obscure corners of our cities, and the hedges and tangled roadways of the outskirts of our small towns, are fraught with less mystery and diversion than a mountain trail. Given the mind alive to see all that the eye sees, and half the attention to detail of equipment that we put on competitive games, and walking becomes a form of recreation open to everyone, combining the physical exhilaration and benefit of tennis or baseball with the imaginative stimulus that comes from intimate contact with nature and humanity, adventure and romance.

Courtesy As An Asset.

Railway companies and other public service corporations are now laying stress upon the value of courtesy toward the public. Some of them are issuing circular letters of instruction to employees, not only as to the value but as to the nature of courtesy. One of these, coming out of a St. Louis railway office, bears evidence of emanating from a polite mind, such as knows, always, that the quality of courtesy is never strained. "Courtesy is to be distinguished from mere civility," it says. "The latter won't do. It is short of the mark." An illustration is then given of how a question can be answered civilly but not courteously, because incomplete in the detail needed to reassure the questioner. This is a fine but an eminently true and just distinction. An inquirer about the train connections can be left in a thicker haze than before, if the railway employee gives an answer entirely clear to his own mind but confusing to that of the patron of the road who has every reason, and every right, to be fully informed.

But after all, the man in public service corporation employment who is merely civil is not the one who is the more responsible for public ill-feeling against such organizations. That odium falls most heavily upon the thousands who have been neither civil nor courteous, but arrogant and ill-mannered to the last trying degree. How many millions, in the aggregate, such cads have lost to their employers, in fanning a flame of public resentment against corporations in general, can never be told. While public service corporations were less interested in public service than politics, the politician's pull swarmed many headquarters and minor stations with persons feeling no responsibility either to the public or to the corporations themselves. As a rule, and almost from the necessities of such a case, men, and sometimes women, held in by such a tenure, have felt themselves under such a heavy weight of obligation to the politicians who were working their pulls, that, under a law of equalization, they have had to slough off any sense of obligation they might otherwise have felt to stockholders, or to the people the stockholders are anxious to do business with. The condition is glimpsed in the circular before us, which, after saying that while some of the loss and depression has been due to restrictive legislation, adds: "But we don't overshoot the mark when we name lack of courtesy on the part of employees as next in line." The mentor admits that patience under difficulties is not easy, but he enjoins his readers to remember that the larger the man the larger the courtesy. This is hitting upon a vital, not to say primal truth of life, which he concentrates in the one sentence: "No man is too big to be courteous, but many men are too little." This is a bit of wisdom it would not be amiss to print in large letters, frame and hang in the offices of all public service corporations, as an admonition alike to the public and the people they deal with.—Lexington Leader.

Politeness.

Politeness may to some seem a little thing, but it marks the difference between a gentleman and one who is indifferent to the feelings and right of another. A "little" incident which came under the notice of the Town Talker at Fourth and Main streets a few days ago is illustrative of the point.

A newsboy was plying a fan bearing an advertisement of the State Fair when a person, having the semblance of a man, approached, possessed by curiosity, and taking the fan from the boy with not so much as by your leave, please, proceeded to examine it critically. But that was "nothing" compared to the after breach. The boy, as soon as he parted with the fan, was called to the street to make a sale and the man by that time, having satisfied his curiosity, returned the borrowed article, by placing it on the newsboy's papers under his arm in such a careless manner that it fell into the gutter filled with water. The man said never so much as "thank you" when he returned the fan, or made any effort to recover it after it had fallen into the water, but passed on without even an expression of regret over the disaster due to his own indifference. The newsy accepted the situation without complaint, his behavior all through being in sharp contrast to the boorishness of the man, who evidently regarded himself as being of superior clay, while those who observed the incident put him down as "companion to the ox."—Louisville Times.

JEWESS RESTORED TO LIFE.

Mark v, 21-24, 35-43—Aug. 18.

"And He took the damsel by the hand and said unto her, Talitha cumi, which is, being interpreted, Damsel, I say unto thee, arise."—Vs. 41.

WHEN JESUS and the Apostles returned to the vicinity of Capernaum, the people were on the lookout for them, especially Jairus, one of the rulers of the synagogue. He came and fell at Jesus' feet in great distress. He besought Him to come and heal his little daughter who lay at the point of death. As they went to the house of Jairus the multitude followed and thronged and delayed the procession. Meantime a messenger arrived from Jairus' house, telling that the child was dead. But Jesus said to the bereaved father, "Be not afraid, only believe."

The multitude was left, and only three of the Apostles, Peter, James and John, went on with Jesus and Jairus. When they arrived they beheld a great tumult connected with the customary weeping and wailing. Jesus astonished the mourners by telling them not to weep, that the child was not dead, but asleep. What did He mean? Did the Great Teacher prevaricate? He spoke in the same manner in respect to His friend Lazarus, saying, "Lazarus sleepeth," and then later He explained that he was dead. How shall we understand these words? What were the facts?

"All Live Unto Him."

The key to the matter is given us in our Lord's own words to the Sadducees, who denied that there would be any resurrection of the dead or any future life (Luke xx, 27-38). Jesus proceeded to give them a proof that the dead are not really dead in the sense that the brute beasts are dead, because God in His Plan has made an arrangement for the resurrection of humanity from the death state, whereas He has made no arrangement for the resurrection of the brute beasts. The provision for man's resurrection was that God would provide a Redeemer to satisfy the claims of Divine Justice against Adam and all his race, and who thus would become the Great Deliverer, and, establishing His Messianic Kingdom, would release all mankind from the power of death.

From this standpoint, God's standpoint, no human being is dead. Their awakening will be accomplished by Messiah's Kingdom, and all will then have fullest opportunity of coming to a knowledge of God's character and His will respecting them; and all will be assisted back to harmony with God, if they so desire, that they may thus reach again the perfection of life lost by disobedience. It is in view of this Divine intention, the awakening of the dead, that Jesus spoke of death as a "sleep," a period of rest, of quiet, of unconsciousness.

Looking into the Bible for an answer as to where they sleep we hear the inspired words, "They that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake." (Dan. xii, 2) Thus God has provided for Adam and his family a redemption from the power of death and a deliverance from the tomb, by the power of the resurrection; and it is Jesus who declares, "I am the resurrection and the life." The Church will be the first from humanity to receive eternal life, and they will be granted a share with Jesus in His resurrection to glory, honor and immortality, as His Bride, His Joint-heir under His Headship. Then, as said the Apostle, will come the world of mankind, "every man in his own order."

Jesus put the statement about the man's being asleep in a forceful way, in order to impress the great lesson that death does not end all, even though it appears so to do. The awakening which He was about to perform was to be a lesson and illustration of Divine power, which will be exercised toward the entire race under the Messianic Kingdom. Thus, as He declared, "All that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of Man, and come forth."

The world will come forth, Jesus said, that they may have a resurrection or rising up, up, up to perfection, to all that was lost in Eden, to all that was redeemed at Calvary. The awakening will be but a preparatory step. It will be accomplished instantaneously, but the further raising up, to mental, moral and physical perfection, will be a gradual work, for which a thousand years has been apportioned, and in which the individual will be obliged to co-operate for his advancement and instruction in righteousness. This resurrection of mankind in general Jesus styled, "The resurrection of judgment"—by discipline, by trials and testings. Only those who will fully reject the Lord and His way will die the Second Death, from which there will be no resurrection.

Reduction in Insurance Rates.

The Kentucky Insurance Commission, created under an act of the last General Assembly, held a meeting in Louisville recently to consider new rate schedules to be applied to risks on all classes of property in the State. The Commission considers the present fire insurance rates too high, and after a thorough investigation the board expects to issue an order, whereby the dwelling rates probably will be reduced 25 per cent., while the mercantile rates will be cut from 10 to 15 per cent. When the order of the Commission goes into effect it will be a big annual saving both to property owners and business men generally. It has been the general opinion of those conversant with the matter that fire insurance rates on all classes of property in Kentucky have been higher than the rate prevailing in other States, and the work of the new Commission in reducing materially the rate on property in Kentucky will afford everybody cause for satisfaction.

Postoffice General Delivery.

The postal authorities at Washington propose to regulate, among other things, the general delivery service. The claim is made that in nearly every city the general delivery window in postoffices has been utilized more frequently to maintain surreptitious correspondence than for the convenience of those for whom the service is intended. It is asserted that men and women and many young girls carry on clandestine correspondence through the general delivery window.

Under the new regulations young persons applying at the general delivery window will be asked to give their home address and if they live in the city will also be asked why they do not receive their mail at home by the regular mail carrier.

The general delivery window is for the convenience of transients and traveling people, who stay in a city but a short time and who have no fixed residence. There is no reason why it should be made the assistant of the much condemned "back-room" as furnishing a means for libertines to set snares for foolish girls or for those of more mature years to carry on clandestine correspondence. It is better not to receive mail of a kind that cannot be delivered at one's home or place of business.—Lexington Leader.

An Ounce of Prevention.

The feet, more than almost any other part of the human frame, determine vacation pleasure. The comfort of the foot depends in large measure upon the shoes worn. Not long ago all out-of-door shoes were divided into two broad classes: summer shoes and winter shoes. Now there are almost as many kinds of shoes as kinds of activity. There are low shoes and shoes with all heights of uppers. There are shoes of many hues, short and long, and tight and loose. Footwear has been designed especially for the walker and for the man who is to take his vacation in the woods, the weight ranging from the heaviest leather to the moccasin. There are special shoes for baseball, for tennis, and a large number of varieties for golf; the fisherman is not neglected. Kinds of leather are various, and rubber is craftily combined with the leather, as are special devices of metal. Children have their distinctive models. So has the man with the abnormal foot. In short, if the man starts on his vacation unsuitably shod it can be counted no one's fault but his own.

The Individual.

If all the promises of the candidates came true, if all the planks of the various platforms became laws, they would not accomplish as much for the individual welfare of any man as he himself can effect by the exercise of qualities within the circumference of his own character. The men who suffer in the cities from the high cost of their uselessly complicated living could permanently improve their lot by a three days' walk straight into the country, and by the determination to endure the inconveniences of readjustment. The last is the part that takes character. The immigrants who crossed the sea had to have much more. Any able bodied man with durable qualities of character can tomorrow drop off the railroad at any one of a thousand stations west of the Mississippi, within an hour have work at enough pay to save half of it, within five years own a piece of land, and within twenty years own a comfortable home, with children in the local State university. If a very large number of men should adopt this program, the aggregate would accomplish more to remedy our economic maladjustments than any statesman can.

VINE OF INSIDIOUS NATURE

Japanese Hop Will Grow and Spread With a Persistence Nothing Can Curb.

Dear to the heart of the amateur gardener is the assurance that a vine is "of rapid growth—a strong annual, valuable for covering unsightly fences and other surfaces, and affording a pleasant shade when trained up the side of the porch." Yet a vine may be all these things, and possess other attractive qualities, and still be one to be selected with much caution. The much advertised Japanese hop vine, either the plain or variegated sort, is of a most insidious nature.

As far north as Lake Erie its tiny seeds take no harm from the bleak winters, and while your own initial sowing of them may have needed coaxing, the self-sown are all too vigorous. They come up in a garden bed, paths, all through the grass, pushing out and twisting around, with their wiry, prickly stems, delicate annuals and stout perennials alike. The more you pull up, the more seems to come up. The persistence of self-sown morning glory seedling is mere apathy beside the vigorous determination of these too "strong annuals" to enter in and possess your garden. The "blossom" of Japanese hops being so very small and inconspicuous—in no way resembling that of the perennial sort grown for commercial purposes in this country—one hardly realizes how abundantly the seeds are being produced until the following spring.

ACCOUNTED FOR

"Any good fishing about here?"
"Fine!"
"Are you a fisherman?"
"No; I sell bait."

SUPERSTITION VERIFIED.

"After thirteen years," writes Marie von Glaser, "I feel that I may tell a story of the fatal number," and describes a dinner given by Johann Strauss, the waltz king, at his home in Vienna, at which she sat between the host and Paul Lindau. The company consisted of men and women "who had something to say and who knew how to say it," and the flow of merriment was at floodtide when Adalbert von Goldschmidt, who had been detained at the theater, appeared. "To his question: 'May I come in so late?' there came a cheerful 'Yes,' and he found a place at the table. Then Strauss turned to him and said, hoarsely: 'We are thirteen,' and to change the number the little daughter was brought in and placed at a side table. 'We are still thirteen,' said the master, 'the result is inevitable.' That was at Easter, and we laid the earliest June roses on his bier."

COLLEGE TO TEACH BANKING.

The old days when the humanities constituted the whole curriculum of the colleges are gone. There are professorships today on journalism and a hundred other isms. Now comes E. C. Converse with a gift of $125,000 to establish a professorship of banking in Harvard university. He says it is to put this science on a par with Greek and theology. Business colleges for a long time have rivaled high schools in teaching business rather than any exact or applied sciences. So after all Mr. Converse's notion is hardly new.

SAFETY.

"Do you think it possible to make an airship absolutely safe?"
"Sure," replied the mechanician.
"How?"
"Disable it before it gets a chance to leave the ground."

AWAITING IT.

"There is a crisis coming in China."
"I told my wife so as soon as I saw the new cook handle the dishes."
